

Patagonian Red Stag Hunt

Starting Bid $2,200.00

Retail Value $7,500.00

2 Available

Fly Fishing Patagonia Includes:

- 5-night stay in a double occupancy room
- All meals, wines, and drinks
- Primary trophy preparation, land transportation, and one guide per 2 hunters
- $1,000 credit per hunter for the Red Stag trophy fee (minimum 320 SCI)
- Accommodates 2 hunters

Patagonia, Argentina

Experience the thrill of red stag hunting in the breathtaking wilderness of Patagonia, Argentina with our 5-night trip for 2 hunters. Taking place during the prime season from March to June, with the most exciting time being the rutting season from March 10th to April 6th, this is a unique opportunity to harvest a magnificent trophy. Patagonia's vast and rugged landscapes provide the perfect backdrop for stalking the majestic red stag, known for its large size and impressive antlers. As the fourth-largest deer species in the world, behind moose, elk, and sambar deer, encountering these majestic creatures up close is truly awe-inspiring. This once-in-a-lifetime adventure in the rugged wilderness of Patagonia, Argentina offers the chance to not only harvest a magnificent red stag trophy, but also create cherished memories that will last a lifetime.

The Residence

Nestled in either the picturesque San Luis or La Pampa Province, our cozy lodges offer double occupancy rooms for 2 hunters to relax and recharge during their 5-night stay. With all meals, wines, beers, and drinks included, guests can indulge in delicious local cuisine and unwind with a drink after a long day in the field. Whether you're recounting your day's adventures with fellow hunters by the fireplace or admiring the scenic views from the lodge's outdoor terrace, our comfortable accommodations provide the perfect retreat after a thrilling day of red stag hunting in the rugged Patagonian wilderness.